BOWLING CONTEST.

Pitt Street Downs Star Penn Street Team at Local Bowling Alley.

Last Monday evening, the local bowling alley was filled to capacity to witness a match game of Duck Pins between Pitt Street and the crack Penn Street team, challengers of any aggregation of bowlers in Bedford or vicinity.

The game started promptly at 7.30 o'clock, with Stivers as captain of Pitt Street and England as captain of Penn Street. From start to finish the rooters on both sides kept up a merry howl for their respective streets. Captain Stivers led the assault for Pitt and from the time the first ball sped down the alley until all was over Pitt Street's faith in winning never wavered.

The Pitt Street boys feel highly elated over their victory as you can readily tell by the smile on their faces. Penn is hot for revenge after getting such a drubbing, losing all three games after their haughty challenge to all that came there way, and a different story may be told the next time. Below is the official score:

Pitt Street.
Stivers	146	126

LITTLE GAINED BY EITHER SIDE IN ILLINOIS.

Local Option Fight About Evenly Divided—Wet Territory Dry; Dry Territory Wet.

Chicago, April 5.—Practically complete returns today from local option territory in Illinois indicate that little advantage went to either side as to the result of yesterday's election. Prohibition victories show that between 350 and 500 saloons were eliminated while towns won by the liquor forces will open territory that had more than 150 saloons at the time of the 1912 dry victory. The greatest victory for the anti-saloon interest occurred at Waukegan, where 940 saloons were voted out. The victory for the dries there makes all the territory along Lake Michigan from Chicago city limits to Wisconsin, prohibition ground.

The last number of the Alumni Star course for this year will appear next Thursday evening, in the nature of an impersonation, interspersed with music. This promises to be the best number on the course. Plenty of fun in connection with this number. Everybody should go to hear it.

The people of Mann's Choice are fortunate in having the privilege of listening to an address by Hon. Oliver W. Stewart, of Chicago. Mr. Stewart is to speak on Sunday, April 15, 10.30 a. m. in the M. E. Church, under the auspices of the Flying Squadron Foundation. This organization has as its head, Hon. J. Frank Hanly, former Governor of Indiana. Mr. Stewart has been closely associated with Gov. Hanly for nearly two years. They worked together in the long campaign to take the Flying Squadron of America into every state in the Union, and they are continuing that association in the work of the Flying Squadron Foundation. Mr. Stewart was the only prohibition member of the Forty-third General Assembly of the State of Illinois. He was elected on the prohibition ticket from the Chicago District. Those who are responsible for his coming here have arranged for the lecture to be free and everyone is invited to attend.

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system.

To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment builds up the system, purges the blood of impurities and upbuilds your strength.

Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

Bedford Gazette

ESTABLISHED IN 1805

VICTOR L. F. BARKMAN
Editor and Publisher

The Gazette is the leading newspaper of Bedford County and its circulation is far ahead of any of its contemporaries. As an advertising medium it is one of the best in this part of the state.

Regular subscription price per year $1.50, payable in advance. Card of Thanks, 50c; Resolutions, $1.00.

All communications should be addressed to

Gazette Publishing Co.,
Bedford, Pa.

FRIDAY MORNING, APRIL 7, 1916

"SOLDIERING".

Three hundred good jobs were offered to 200 men in the bread line of the Salvation Army in New York. Five died and went to work. Consequently, the bread-line enterprise was immediately ended. The Ancient and Honorable Sons of Rest will now start a boycott on the Salvation Army. The ground that all men have a right to "soldier".

IMPROVE THE ROADS NOW.

Now is the time to drag the roads. Don't wait until the mud in the ditches is so hard that a drag will not take hold. It is much cheaper to drag the road than to use scraper or plow. A team should drag 10 miles a day at $4.50. You can figure for yourself the cost to drag your roads each time if you know your township mileage. Bedford township could drag its roads with 10 teams at $4.50 a day, it would cost $450 each time. Say, they are dragged once a week, closing with October 1st for 30 weeks, it would cost the township $1350.00. That would be about one-fifth the road tax of the township. We believe it would pay to have the roads dragged. It is the cheapest way to keep the roads in repair. Use the road drag NOW.

LET IT BE WILSON AND ROOSEVELT.

In the Presidential campaign this year, no two candidates are so diametrically opposite in nature and in opinions as Wilson and Roosevelt.

Wilson stands for peace; Roosevelt, for war. Wilson stands for adequate preparedness; Roosevelt for excessive preparedness. Wilson prepares for defensiveness; Roosevelt, for aggressiveness. Wilson is quiet and docile, Roosevelt, loud and boisterous. Wilson accomplishes what he goes after, Roosevelt never does. Wilson put more constructive legislation on the statute books in one year than Roosevelt did in seven. Wilson hates the war spirit; Roosevelt loves it. Wilson governs by reason; Roosevelt, by daring. Wilson is not like a Villa; Roosevelt is not unlike him. Wilson's idea of government is Americanism; Roosevelt's, Prussianism. Wilson stands for peace as long as he can maintain it with honor, for the safety for its citizens; Roosevelt is for war or the sake of war.

Wilson abhors publicity. Roosevelt loves it. Wilson believes the state exists for the people; Roosevelt believes the people exist for the state. There is no more likeness between Wilson and Roosevelt than there is between our theories of the sun and the moon. To nominate them on different tickets would be the most logical thing to do for it would put real issues up to the people, and Democracy should be glad for the contest. The people would have a chance to express themselves through the ballot whether they want a peaceful administration or a warlike one.

To select Hughes would be nothing more than putting him against like for Wilson and Hughes are so near to the same ideals that no issue would be at stake. The people would have expressed nothing at the ballot box and nothing would be settled. Let it be Wilson and Roosevelt. We agree.

Christy Mathewson
by Walt Mason

When Christy's dead a hundred years, the fans will still discuss his play, and sigh, while sheathing briny tears, "There are no men like him today! He used the brains behind his brow, and gave the foe a grievous jar; the chroniclers have told us how he was for years and years a star. Great pitchers came and cut some grass, and died, and then forgotten were: he saw them come, and saw them pass, and still kicked up a mighty stir." The chroniclers will also tell how Christy, when a game was played, filled up the pipe he loved so well, to soothe his nerves, all tired and frayed. He smoked Tuxedo every time, the critic's smoke, the mild and rare, Tuxedo fragrant and sublime, the cool, sweet smoke beyond compare.

CHRISTY MATHEWSON
Pitcher—New York Giants

"Tuxedo gets to me in a natural, pleasant way. It's what I all round, honest, companionable tobacco—the kind to stick to."

Mathewson

Temperance

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

LIQUOR MEN AND LABOR.

Before the convention of the American Federation of Labor there was a demand by the liquor interests or organizations identified with them, that the American Federation of Labor line up with the liquor men in their fight against prohibition. Mr. Charles Stelzle, writing in the Continent, says that the atmosphere of the convention was so decidedly unfriendly to such action that the liquor men "were easily persuaded to drop the entire question. Throughout the convention," continues Mr. Stelzle, "the liquor men were strangely quiet, refraining from taking any part in any of the discussions, for fear of arousing the enmity of anybody whose opinions might be controverted."

"A mass meeting for the purpose of discussing the relation of labor to the saloon was held on the first Sunday afternoon of the convention, and was attended by about one thousand persons. With the use of government statistics and logic which appealed to the workers, facts were presented which battered down the arguments of the liquor men that the abolition of the saloon would create a labor panic."

"The statement that the labor men in England had not only organized a labor officials' temperance fellowship with which the best leaders were identified, but that bartenders, brewery workers and others in the liquor industry were not considered worth organizing by the British Trades congress, had a marked effect on the audience."

WAY DOWN IN ARIZONA.

A traveling salesman who goes into every nook and corner of Arizona, visiting the W. C. T. U. booth at the Panama-Pacific exposition, asked what we knew of the results of prohibition in Arizona. Miss Brown, the director, repeated some of the statements which had come to her from residents and travelers, not at all knowing his attitude in the matter. Then he told her that he had been in all parts of the state, having gone over the territory for fourteen years. He said: "You cannot exaggerate changed conditions. In the mines the accidents have decreased 80 per cent, the efficiency has more than doubled, and the physical appearance of the communities has greatly improved. The faces of men look far fresher, healthier and happier. Business has improved greatly. Merchants and other business men who formerly opposed prohibition on the ground of injury to business are now its greatest boosters and would not allow a return to old conditions. Prohibition has come to stay in Arizona." The visitor admitted that he had always been accustomed to take his glass of beer and liked a glass of wine with his meals, but declared there is not one argument for the continuance of the liquor traffic.

THE TEST.

A Birmingham (England) employer who is a staunch teetotaler, recently advertised for a foreman for one of the departments of his works, and a large crowd of men called at the factory. When the employer saw them outside he said generally: "Well, we might as well go and have a drink," pointing to a tavern opposite. He suited the action to his words, and led the way across, the men following. When he reached the swing doors of the public house he turned around and saw one man loitering behind the others and called out to him: "Aren't you coming in?" "I'm a teetotaler thanks," was the response. "Well, you're the man for me," the employer promptly rejoined, and he there and then engaged him, while all the others were sent about their business.

THERE'S A MORAL.

From the Sacramento Union comes the following: A well-known resident of Sacramento the other day met on a train two men and their wives who had come from Kansas seeking farms in California. He asked them why they did not investigate the country around Sacramento, as it offered many opportunities for the home-seeker. They replied that they had spent three days in this city and had been much impressed with what they saw. "But," said one of them: "Sacramento has entirely too many saloons for us, and the farmers' roads are lined with roadhouses, so we decided to go elsewhere to locate."

A GOOD TYPE.

Rockford, Ill., is a prosperous, comfortable interior American city. A part of its population is of alien birth or parentage. Thus it represents the type of American life and very favorably the American scheme; a small city with a high average of intelligence.—Chicago Tribune.

And Rockford is dry.

PRODUCES CRIMINALS.
Gentlemen, your trade cannot be treated like any other business, for it is unlike any other. The liquor traffic tends to produce criminality in the population at large and law-breaking among the saloonkeepers themselves. If the American people do not control it with a firm hand, it will soon control them.—Theodore Roosevelt.

SAILING OVER BAR.

"Many a young man has lost his rudder while trying to sail over the bar."

Prohibition Progress in Pennsylvania

Slowly but surely Pennsylvania is feeling the contagion of the country-wide movement toward prohibition. No thoughtful man, who is familiar with the situation, doubts that eventually this great Commonwealth will take its place with many other States that have thrown off the thrall of the liquor traffic. A higher civic conscience is being developed. Men are realizing that saloons are degrading, character-debasing centres, and are avoiding them as they would a plague. A growing sense of responsibility is being felt by leaders; and the liquor interest, with its debauching influence, is losing its control. "Our God is marching on."

Local and county temperance organizations are working together in the most harmonious relations, and their work is bearing fruit. Time was when the people of Union county thought they needed fifty saloons; today they have two. The eleven breweries of Luzerne county show a distinct decrease in their output; while the total number of applications for license filed is thirty-eight less than last year. In Kensington, the great mill district of Philadelphia, the proprietor of one of these mills recently said: "The employee who drinks, will find short shift here. Where previously I would suspend a man for a week, if he were a good workman who only slipped up on the drink occasionally, I realize that I can take no more chances, and now the first offense will be the last in my mill." In this connection it is stated that warnings to workmen have been issued quite generally throughout the Kensington district, and that there is a noticeable decrease in the number of men who patronize the saloon at the lunch hour.

A short time ago, a silk mill at Hazleton, which employed 1,200 workmen, posted notices to the effect that hereafter, in hiring help, preference would be given to total abstainers, and that instant dismissal would follow the use of intoxicants before or during working hours. During the past year, 256 Sunday services have been held in the interest of temperance, which have been attended by 193,038 persons, and the sum of $89,971.60 has been collected and subscribed.

The York Gazette, in a recent issue, says: "The minds of most voters, no doubt, will be much taken up with the issues of the presidential campaign, and there is danger that the local option issue may be lost sight of. The best method of preventing this is for those favoring local option to see to it that candidates who pledged themselves to vote for local option are nominated on all party tickets. This is not a party question and there is no reason why it should be. Governor Brumbaugh has promised to stump the State in its favor. Local option candidates can be put on all tickets, and it should be done. Victory will be certain, if the requisite pains are taken. Let's get busy!"

Jefferson county will be dry next year. This will make eleven dry counties in the State. Crawford county has also entered the dry column. Last year this county had thirty-seven saloons, this year, all licenses are refused.

Early in March, one hundred indictments against brewery companies operating in and from Pennsylvania were presented to the United States Western District Court of this State, by the federal grand jury which has been, for weeks, probing the lawless contributions of these concerns to political campaigns. These indictments charge that the defendant brewery companies "unlawfully, knowingly, willfully, wrongfully and feloniously did conspire, combine and confederate with other corporations to make money contributions to bring about the election of certain members to the United States House of Representatives." The federal act under which these indictments are returned is in part: "It shall be unlawful for any corporation whatever to make a money contribution in connection with any election at which presidential and vice-presidential electors, or a representative in Congress is to be voted for, or any election by any State Legislature of a United States Senator." Should conviction be secured against these breweries, it is estimated that not less than a million and a half dollars can be collected. This is considered the most drastic action ever taken by federal authorities to break the strangle hold of the allied beer trust.

These fragmentary bits of information will indicate that the great State of Pennsylvania is arousing to the vast issues that are before it. Men are more and more realizing that, as has been so well said, with the saloon "you deposit your money, and lose it; your time, and lose it; your character, and lose it; your manly independence, and lose it; your home comfort, and lose it; your children's happiness, and lose it; your own soul, and lose it."

The Board of Trustees of the Pennsylvania Anti-Saloon League through its state superintendent, the Rev. E. J. Moore, Ph. D., has sent out this stirring message: "We heartily commend and recommend to our supporters and sympathizers those city and county papers, both daily and weekly, which at a great financial sacrifice are refusing to accept the advertisement of the liquor trade. We denounce the sinister scheme of the liquor interests in their hypocritical method of advertising their business in the press of the State. We render our thanksgiving to Almighty God for the advancing anti-saloon sentiment, for the marked victories already won, for the relentless and progressive warfare now on, and for the sure and final victory which awaits His will. Trusting in Him, we call upon all true and patriotic citizens to lend their support to the consummation of our motto: The saloon must go!"

Good men everywhere should encourage every effort that is being made to rid Pennsylvania of this crowning curse of intemperance. The words of Ex-Congressman, George C. Sturgis should be a clarion call to all: "You cannot buy immunity for any price for your boys and girls; you cannot buy safety as long as the saloon is opening its doors and inviting them in. As long as you permit these places, you may expect to furnish the material that goes into this ceaseless grind. In the name of common justice, and in the name of the manhood and the womanhood of our beloved land, in the name of the stainless homes of America, let your patriotism appeal to reason, let your conscience whisper in the ear of judgment; and in the rectitude of your Anglo-Saxon manhood, in this hour of your country's need, register your vote against a continuance of the curse of the legalized liquor traffic!"
